"The chemisty and physics between toner, drum and fuser are finely tuned and must work together, or component failures will begin to emerge, maybe nine months down the road."

Gartner Group "Office Printer TCO: Don't Lose the Supply Cartridge"

An independent study by Buyers Laboratory, Inc. (BLI) tested and compared the performance of Genuine Lexmark fuser maintenance kits against four Third-Party brands. Bargain-brand parts are not the bargain they claim to be.

	Genuine Lexmark	Bargain-Brands
Overall Fuser Performance	√ Consistent and Reliable	Not Equal to New
Reliable Print Performance	√ 100% of Fusers Met Performance Expectations	71% Fuser Failure Rate
Actual Pages Printed	√ 100% of Expected Yield	48% Fewer Pages than Lexmark

Genuine Lexmark Delivers 100% of Page-Yield

- Genuine Lexmark Fuser Maintenance Kits printed 100% of their expected 300,000 page-yield
- Third-Party brands, on average, produced only half of their claimed page-yield
- When it comes to quality and value—nothing compares to Genuine Lexmark!

"Throughout BLI's extensive tests, the genuine Lexmark fusers clearly outperformed the third-party brands in all performance categories, unequivocally demonstrating far superior reliability and page-yield, with no fuser-related defects."

Third-Party Parts Have Hidden Costs

Third-Party brand parts might seem like a bargain, but there are hidden costs related to unreliable performance. Common issues include:

- New parts that fail out of the box
- Documents with poor print quality
- Hardware failures including
  - Poor fusing
  - Overheating
  - Material failure

Third-Party Brand Performance

The lost time and money resulting from a 71% fuser failure rate add up when you have to:

- Pay for twice as many fusers, if you get half the yield
- Reprint documents
- Troubleshoot printing issues
- Change fusers more often
- Place service calls to the help desk or hotline
- Risk printer failures not covered by warranty
- Lose productivity due to printer downtime

In recent testing, fusers from every Third-Party brand exhibited failures in performance. Genuine Lexmark fusers exhibited zero failures, always delivering the quality, performance and value you expect from Lexmark.

"We help our customers understand why paying a little bit more for a genuine part will yield significantly more life from the printer. That's a good investment."

"When dealers buy Third-Party parts to save money, there are significant hidden costs. They will have to replace those parts well before the normal expected lifespan of Genuine Lexmark parts. Where's the value in that?"
